

Lindie completed her degree in Dietetics at The North West University, Potchefstroom. She got married at the end of her final year and then moved to Johannesburg where she served her community internship at Charlotte Maxeke Academic Hospital.

After her community service year she started working as a clinical dietician in private hospitals and consulted with outpatients in the afternoon. In October 2017 she opened her own private practice in Durbanville. She is seeing ICU and hospitalised patients admitted to Durbanville Mediclinic.

She values daily research to motivate treatment regimes, she believe in an individualised approach to every patient and she diligently adhere to well researched protocols followed by Doctors and Dieticians.

She have a passion for paediatric-, and maternal patients and love working in the ICU